

Traveler: We were walking past the river, and we saw native american men walking. Sacagawea yelled out that she has seen this land and knows the people... she knew that that man was hr brother. She discussed with the man for a while. They spoke foreign words that none of us knew. She looked excited after a few more minutes of discussion. For the man says that he would supply us and help us continue our journey. He supplied us with horses and food for the road. Sacagawea told us that he was happy to help us find our way to the north way passage. He gave u beautiful horses and fulfilling food for our journey. He helped us strongly and we our thankful.

Native American boy: father took all of the men to the river along with me, he told me he wanted to teach me how to hunt for my wife and children that one day I would have. But instead of finding food we found traveling men. Father approached the women that was our kind, he hugged her with praise. They discussed for what seemed hours the women explained that they needed food and horses. Father agreed. And we took them to our home. The big mean had a tired look. Almost as if they had been on more than a journey, it looks like they had run into a bear. We gave the men horses and food and left them to complete their journey.
